

5 Easy Steps, 50 Seconds, Revolutionizes Auto Dealers' Proof of Insurance Process

Gather gives auto dealers the identity and insurance verification they need to close deals faster, maximize revenue per customer and ensure regulatory compliance.

Today's proof of auto insurance process is fraught with challenges. Calling an insurance agent to update a policy opens dealers up to Safeguards and anti-discriminatory violations. It also introduces competition with the dealer's F&I office as insurance carriers sell many of the same products that auto dealers do. Lastly, any conversation surrounding insurance premiums undermines car sales.

Gather solves each of these problems, and more.

Once the auto dealer has reached a deal with their car buying customer, Gather's technology goes to work to:

- Verify the consumer's identity
- Verify the consumer is not a fraud risk
- Verify the consumer has active insurance coverage
- Notify the insurance carrier of the policy update

No longer will the car sales professional or the customer need to call an insurance agent to update their policy. Gather does it all seamlessly for the dealer.

Gather integrates natively with the leading DMS providers and also works as a stand-alone with independent car dealers.
